Enrollment Again Sets Record: Passes Good Mark For First Time

With fulltime undergraduate enrollment skyrocketing past the 6000 mark for the first time in history, Indiana University of Pennsylvania now ranks third among the 135 institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania behind only Pennsylvania State University and Temple University.

Fulltime undergraduate enrollment is now listed at 6039 students, with 5504 of that number on the main campus at Indiana, 353 at the Armstrong County Center in Kittanning and 182 at the Punxsutawney Center. There are a total of 3350 women enrolled compared with 2689 men.

Also setting a new record is a current freshman class of approximately 2300 students, which includes 1700 now studying at the main campus, 375 at the Armstrong County and Punxsutawney Centers and 225 who began their academic program during the summer and who will resume their studies in January.

This freshman class is also the third largest in Pennsylvania, again behind only Penn State and Temple. A comparison of the current class entering Indiana with those of the past three years reveals that they are the best class ever admitted to the university in terms of ability as well.

A total of 96 per cent of the 1700 students on the main campus have come from the top two fifths of their high school class, with 79 per cent from the first fifth. Just three years ago the entering freshman class included just 54 per cent from the top fifth of their graduating class.

Mean college board total score of the present freshman class is now at 1076, with nearly 38 percent of the students scoring more than 1100. Only three years ago the mean was at 1000, with 21 per cent higher than 1100.

In addition to the undergraduate enrollment there are 722 graduate students presently enrolled in first semester classes, 21 student nurses and 405 part time undergraduate students. The latter figure represents 327 on the main campus (including Saturday campus classes), 13 at the centers, 65 in evening programs.

Although enrollment statistics are not yet available from all other colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, it would appear at this point that a total enrollment of 7187 students at Indiana University would rank it among the top five institutions of higher learning in the State.

Summer school enrollment for 1966 also set new highs with figures reported as follows: pre session—1695 undergraduate, 644 graduate students; main session—1978 undergraduate, 941 graduate; post session—1271 undergraduate, 528 graduate.

New University Organization Adopted By Board of Trustees

At the May meeting of the Indiana University Board of Trustees plans for the organization of the newly created university were adopted.

The general organization of the institution as accepted by the Board called for the establishment of additional Schools and Departments and the granting of additional degrees within the framework of Act 430 which created the University.

The affairs of the University, under the new plans, were divided into five major divisions: University Services, Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, Business Affairs, and Development Affairs.

Added to the three existing Schools (Education, Arts and Sciences, Graduate) were four others—A School of Fine Arts, A School of Business, A School of Home Economics, and A School of Continuing and Non-Resident Education.

Included in the School of Education are the following departments: Laboratory Experiences, the Laboratory School, Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Special Education, Educational Psychology, Counseling and Guidance, Learning Resources and Mass Media, the Psychological Clinic, the Reading Clinic, and the Speech and Hearing Clinic.

The School of Arts and Sciences includes the following: in the Natural Sciences and Mathematics are the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics; in the Social Sciences—History, Political Science, Economics, Sociology-Anthropology, Geography, and Law Enforcement; in the Humanities—English, Foreign Languages, and Philosophy.

The Graduate School offers programs in practically all areas currently served by the various undergraduate Schools plus an office for Graduate Research.

The School of Business includes two departments—one in Business Education, the other in Business Management.

The School of Home Economics also includes two departments at the present time—Home Economics Education and Institutional Food Services.

The School of Fine Arts includes Music Education, Music, Art, and Art Education.

The School of Continuing Education includes the Off-Campus Centers and Cultural Affairs.

Additional departments will be added in each of the seven established Schools in the future. Several more Schools are also contemplated for the near future.

Class of 1966 Presents Gift

At the General Alumni Association meeting held on Alumni Day last May, the 1966 graduating class, through their class president Nicholas Milan, presented to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, IUP president, a check for $300 to be used toward the purchase of a new mace for the University.

Several designs for the new mace have been prepared and are currently being studied. The new mace, according to Dr. Pratt, should be ready for use at the mid-year commencement in January, 1967.

Offering of Graduate Degrees Approved for Additional Areas

Indiana University of Pennsylvania has received approval of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction for the granting of graduate degrees in a number of additional areas, according to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, Indiana president.

In making the announcement, Dr. Pratt stated that the Program Approval status was issued to the following graduate programs after an examination of them by a DPI team in October 1965: English, Geography, Mathematics, Social Studies, Art Education, Business Education, Elementary Education, Music Education, Science, Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Elementary Science.

Dr. I. L. Straight, Dean of the Graduate School at Indiana University explained that Program Approval carries with it the agreement that the Department of Public Instruction will automatically issue certificates to graduates of these programs on the recommendation of the dean of the school. For the above programs this is significant to those students who are teachers and are attempting to have their provisional certificates validated on a permanent basis.

The Bureau of Teacher Education has also granted Program Approval status to the program in Counselor Education. This enables the graduate to be endorsed by the institution for both provisional and permanent certification.

Two other graduate programs have also been granted provisional approval—Special Education with a concentration in Speech and Hearing and Special Education with a concentration in Mentally Retarded.

Dr. Straight further explained that Indiana's Graduate School will initiate the following new graduate programs in the fall of 1966-67: MS in Mathematics, MA in English, MA in History, MA in Counseling Services, MA or MS in Geography, MEd in Special Education, and MEd in Speech and Hearing.

The above degrees are in addition to the degree of M. of Ed. with majors in Art, Business Education, English, Elementary Education, Mathematics, Counselor Education, Social Science, Music Education, Geography, Science, Biology, Chemistry, Elementary Science, and Psychology.

Sixty-one New Faculty Members Join Indiana Staff for 1966-67

A total of 61 new faculty members have been appointed to the staff at Indiana University of Pennsylvania for the 1966-67 school year, according to President Dr. Willis E. Pratt. Three men joined the Reserve Officers Training Corps staff.

Five new staff members will serve in administration or university services, while the remaining 56 will teach in the various academic departments.

The five administration or university services appointments include John E. Frank as assistant dean of men, Carolyn R. Grundy and Malcolm H. Stilson to the library staff, William E. McCavitt to the instructional resources center and Larry A. Judge as assistant director of public relations.

Frank, appointed as an associate professor, is an Indiana University of Pennsylvania graduate who received a Master of Sciences degree from Westminster College and has done additional graduate work at Western Reserve University and George Washington University.

Most recently a high school counselor at Yorktown High School in Arlington County, Virginia, Frank previously taught five years in the Sharpsville Joint Schools and is a veteran of the U. S. Navy.

Miss Grundy, a graduate of Grove City College who received a Master of Library Science degree from the University of Illinois, most recently was acquisitions librarian at Slippery Rock State College. She has been granted the rank of instructor.

Stilson, most recently documents librarian at the Law Library of the University of Washington, worked eight years as a schedule planner and industrial engineer with Boeing Aircraft and before that as a representative of International Correspondence Schools (ICS).

Appointed as an associate professor, Stilson is a graduate of the University of Southern California, has received a Master of Letters degree from the University of Washington and has done additional graduate work at Long Beach State College and the University of California.

McCavitt, appointed as an associate professor, graduated from Shippensburg State College and received his Master of Science degree from Syracuse University; he has done additional graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and at Pennsylvania State University.

Formerly assistant professor of education at Indiana University of Pennsylvania 1961-62, McCavitt was most recently assistant professor of education at Glassboro State College in New Jersey; he has also been a teacher at Bedford High School and radio announcer with WHUN in Huntingdon.

Judge, an Indiana University of Pennsylvania graduate who has done graduate work at Pennsylvania State University, has been a teacher of English at Penn Joint Junior High School in Claridge and at Lorain (Ohio) High School. He has been given the rank of instructor.

Three men are joining the faculty as members of the Biology Department. They are Frank T. Baker as an assistant professor, Dr. Thomas E. Conway as an associate professor and Leon J. Hue as an assistant professor.

Most recently a science teacher for Willingboro Township School District in New Jersey, Baker has also been a science teacher for Cheltenham Township School District in Elkins Park.

A graduate of Allegheny College, Baker received a Master of Arts degree from Trenton State College and has done additional graduate work at Temple University and at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Conway received his Doctorate in Education from West Virginia University after graduating from the University of Pittsburgh, earning his education credits at California State College and doing additional graduate work at Union College.

Coming to Indiana from a position as biology instructor at West Virginia University, Dr. Conway has also been chairman of the Science Department at Corinth High School in Corinth, New York, seven years and a science teacher for Fort Ann Central Schools in Fort Ann, New York.

Doing his undergraduate work at Pennsylvania State University as well as receiving a Master of Education degree from that school, Hue has done additional graduate work at Yale University and at the University of Rhode Island.

Head senior high biology teacher with the Science Department at State College High School 12 years, Hue had previously been a biology teacher for the Cresson Joint School District.

Two men will join the Chemistry Department this semester at Indiana—Frederick R. Park as an associate professor and Dr. Stanford L. Tackett as an associate professor.

A junior fellow for Mellon Institute of the University of Pittsburgh the past six years, Park previously served as an apprentice geophysicist for Petty Geophysical Engineering and as a geologist for Peoples Natural Gas.

After graduating from Franklin and Marshall College, Park received his Master of Science degree from the University of Pittsburgh and has done additional graduate work there.

Graduating from Ohio State University, Dr. Tackett later received a Doctorate of Philosophy from that school. Most recently an assistant professor at Arizona State University, he had previously been an instructor at Ohio State University and is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force.

The Physics Department lists four new staff members—Dr. James L. Boettler as an assistant professor, Dr. Gary L. Buckwalter as an associate professor, John K. Matolyak as an instructor and Patrick J. McNamara as an associate professor.

Dr. Boettler was most recently a research assistant in two different capacities and had previously been a teaching assistant at the University of Illinois for the past seven years.

He received both Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of Illinois after doing his undergraduate work at Lafayette College.

Earning both his Master of Science degree and Doctorate of Philosophy from Catholic University of America, Dr. Buckwalter graduated from Pennsylvania State University.

Most recently a post-doctoral research associate at Catholic University of America, Dr. Buckwalter previously served six years as assistant professor of physics and officer instructor of physics at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

Previously a physics instructor at St. Francis College, Matolyak had also served as a research physicist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and as a laboratory assistant for the Union Carbide Corp.; he has also been employed by Bethlehem Steel.

A graduate of St. Francis College, Matolyak earned his Master of Science degree from the University of Toledo. He has also studied at Indiana Technical College.

Receiving his undergraduate degree from the University of Detroit and his Master of Science degree from the same school, McNamara has done additional graduate work at the University of Michigan, San Francisco State College, Cornell University and Michigan State University.

McNamara served as Science Department head and a teacher of physics for a total of 11 years in Detroit and is also a veteran of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Three new instructors are joining the Mathematics Department — Dr. Walter M. Miller as a professor, Elwood R. Speakman as an associate professor and Halley O. Willison as an assistant professor.

Before serving as a visiting professor at Humboldt State College in California and at Monmouth College, Dr. Miller had been a professor at Dickinson College seven years and head of the Mathematics Department at Roanoke College and at Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey.

A graduate of Lafayette College who received his Master of Arts degree from Pennsylvania State University and a Doctorate of Philosophy from the University of Illinois, Dr. Miller has done additional graduate work at Cornell University, Duke University and Columbia University.

Holder of two undergraduate degrees from Eastern Nazarene College and from Kent State University, Speakman earned his Master of Arts degree from Bowling Green State University and has done additional graduate work at Oberlin College and Brown University.

Formerly an assistant professor of mathematics at East Stroudsburg State College, Speakman has also been a junior and senior high school teacher at Suffield (Ohio) High School.

Chairman of the mathematics department for the Quaker Valley Schools in Leetsdale for the past 17 years, Willison received his undergraduate degree from Clarion State College and a Master of Letters degree from the University of Pittsburgh and has done additional graduate work at Oberlin College.

Dr. Francis G. McGovern joins the faculty as a professor in the Economics Department and will serve as chairman of that department. A graduate of Providence College, he was awarded a Master of Business Administration degree by Boston University and a Doctorate of Philosophy by Ohio State University.

Professor of economics at the University of Dayton for the past 19 years, Dr. McGovern has previously been a plant cost accountant for the Universal Atlas Cement Company.

Mrs. Susan Wood comes to the staff as an assistant professor in the Geography Department after teaching on the elementary level in the Marion Center Area Schools. She has also been a research secretary for the Association of American Geographers.

Earning both her undergraduate and Master of Arts degrees from Kent State University, Mrs. Wood has done additional graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Ralph Smiley joins the faculty as an associate professor in the History Department. A graduate of Brooklyn College, he received both a Master of Arts degree and a Doctorate of Philosophy from Rutgers University.

Most recently a teaching assistant at Douglas College and previously a research assistant and teaching assistant at Rutgers University as well as an instructor at Newark State College, Dr. Smiley had worked five years as a rate specialist and section supervisor for the Allied Chemical Company.

With the initiation of a Law Enforcement Department at Indiana this year, Harry W. More, Jr. becomes its chairman with the rank of associate professor. Most recently an assistant professor at Washington State University, he was a special agent with the Secret Service in Los Angeles seven years.

A graduate of the University of California, More received a Master of Arts degree from American University and has done additional graduate work at the University of Southern California and at the University of Idaho.

Two new staff members join the Political Science Department—Dr. David Keene as an associate professor and Edward E. Platt as an assistant professor.

After graduating from Bowdoin College, Dr. Keene received Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Princeton University. Formerly assistant professor of political science at the University of Vermont, he had held a similar position for five years at Union College.

Platt has been an instructor of political science, lecturer in political science, graduate assistant and National Defense fellow at the University of Connecticut. After graduating from the University of Connecticut, he earned a Master of Arts degree from that school.

Eight new English Department members include Dr. Edward L. Anderson as a professor, Donald G. Eisen as an assistant professor, Julian B. Ficklen as an assistant professor, Mrs. Elizabeth Frank as an instructor, Anthony J. Nania as an associate professor, Dr. Ford H. Swigart Jr. as an associate professor, Mrs. Helen L. Warren as an instructor and Dr. T. Kenneth Wilson as an assistant professor.

Most recently chairman of the English Department at Mansfield State College, Dr. Anderson previously worked as a test specialist with the Educational Testing Service of Princeton and has also been an English instructor at Brooklyn College and at New York University seven years.

After receiving both his undergraduate and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Michigan, Dr. Anderson earned a Doctorate of Philosophy at New York University.

After graduating from Adelbert College of Western Reserve University, Eisen received a Master of Arts degree from the university. He has been an instructor of English at Case Institute of Technology and a teacher of English at Euclid (Ohio) High School.

After serving as an assistant professor at Indiana University of Pennsylvania 1963-65, Ficklen most recently was a part time instructor at the University of Virginia. He has also been a graduate assistant at the University of Virginia and an instructor at Davidson College.

A graduate of Washington and Lee University, Ficklen was awarded a Master of Arts degree by the University of Virginia and has done additional graduate work there.

Mrs. Frank is a graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania and has done graduate work there. She has served as an English teacher at Ford City High School and for the Butler Area Secondary Schools.

Most recently an instructor of English and a teaching assistant in English at the University of Notre Dame, Nania has also been an instructor and assistant professor at Gannon College, an instructor in English at Marquette University and a teaching assistant in English at Ohio State University.

After graduating from Northland College, Nania received a Master of Arts degree from Marquette University and is now a candidate for a Doctorate of Philosophy at the University of Notre Dame; he has done additional graduate work at Ohio State University.

Receiving both his Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Swigart graduated from Otterbein College and has done additional graduate work at Akron University and at Ohio State University.

For ten years Dr. Swigart has been an assistant professor of English at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown after serving as admissions officer at Otterbein College and as a trainee with Goodyear Aircraft.

Previously a teacher at Marion Center Joint High School and at United Joint High School, Mrs. Warren is a graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania and has done graduate work there.

A graduate of the University of Buffalo who also earned his Doctorate of Philosophy at that school, Dr. Wilson comes to Indiana from a position as instructor of English at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

William J. Henzelman as an instructor, Arthur A. Leone as an associate professor, David L. Shields as an assistant professor and Dr. Anthony J. Sorento join the Foreign Language Department faculty.

Henzelman has served as a teaching graduate assistant of German at Pennsylvania State University, from which he received both his undergraduate and Master of Arts degrees.

Receiving undergraduate degrees both from Pennsylvania State University and LaSalle Extension University and a Master of Arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh, Leone has done additional graduate work at the University of Colgate, University of Toledo, Indiana University and Escuela Normal of Mexico.

Most recently a teacher at Churchill Area High School, Leone has also been a teacher at Turtle Creek High School 13 years, Pittsburgh Academy five years and Conemaugh Township in Indiana County nine years.

Chairman of Modern Languages at Wadsworth (Ohio) Senior High School nine years, Shields has also been a teacher at Norwayne High School in Creston, Ohio, sales and office manager for George Usher Insurance in Lakewood and loan analyst for National City Bank in Cleveland.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh who received a Master of Arts degree from Middlebury College, Shields has done additional graduate work at Western Reserve University, Cleveland College, the University of Colgate and the University of Puerto Rico.

Dr. Sorento is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and received a Master of Arts degree from Middlebury College and a Doctorate from the University of Madrid; he has done additional graduate work at the University of Paris.

Formerly an assistant professor at Slippery Rock State College, Dr. Sorento has also been a Spanish teacher for the Wantagh Public Schools and a graduate assistant at Pennsylvania State University.

Two women join the staff in the Philosophy Department — Mrs. Norah W. Davis as an assistant professor and Mrs. Sally Jean Michael as an associate professor.

Previously a teaching assistant at Washington University as well as an instructor there, Mrs. Davis received both her undergraduate and Master of Arts degrees from that school. She is a candidate for a Doctorate of Philosophy at Washington University.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh who received a Master of Arts degree from Harvard University and is now a Doctor of Philosophy candidate there, Mrs. Michael has also studied at Vassar and Sorbonne.

Coming to Indiana from a position as teacher and don at Saint Lawrence College, Mrs. Michael was previously a teaching assistant at Tufts University and a teaching fellow at Harvard University five years.

Three new instructors join the Health and Physical Education Department faculty—Mrs. Alice D. Dickie as an instructor, William C. McDonald as an assistant professor and Drew Tallman as an instructor.

Formerly an instructor at Indiana Area Junior High School, Mrs. Dickie is a graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania and has done graduate work at Slippery Rock State College.

Earning both his undergraduate and Master of Arts degrees at the University of Cincinnati, McDonald has done additional graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and at Pennsylvania State University.

Teacher of physical education and head football coach for the HIR School District of Aliquippa, McDonald had formerly been a teacher of business education for the Braddock School District and a teacher of physical education and health for the Latrobe School District.

Student football coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania and at Springfield College, Tallman graduated from Springfield College and has done graduate work at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Rudolph R. Kraus joins the Sociology-Anthropology Department staff as an associate professor. Graduating from Fedgnal Commerciaz Academy in Austria, he received a Master of Arts degree from the University of Chicago and has done additional graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and at Pennsylvania State University.

Most recently an associate professor at Bloomsburg State College, Kraus has also been an assistant professor at Russell Sage College, at Central College and at Shepherd College and an instructor at the University of Wisconsin.

Appointed to the Business Management Department faculty as an associate professor is William S. Wagner. Receiving both his undergraduate and Master of Education degrees from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, he has done additional graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Wagner has previously served as a teacher of business education with the North Allegheny Schools of Pittsburgh and with the Highland Schools of Natrona.

Maynard F. Kemerer has been appointed an instructor at Keith School. A teacher in the Penn Hills School District of Pittsburgh seven years, he is a veteran of the U. S. Navy.

After graduating from Slippery Rock State College, Kemerer has done graduate work at Pennsylvania State University, the University of Pittsburgh and Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Bruce D. Cartwright joins the staff as an associate professor in the Education-Psychology Department. A graduate of Waynesburg College and holder of a Master of Arts degree from West Virginia University, he has done additional graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Formerly associate professor of psychology at Slippery Rock State College, Cartwright has also been a graduate instructor at West Virginia University, assistant professor of psychology and education at Waynesburg College six years and social studies teacher at Connellsville Joint School seven years.

Three new faculty members join the Elementary Education Department—Dennis A. Bartha as an associate professor, Robert L. King as an associate professor and Dr. Margaret W. Shumaker as an associate professor.

For the past 13 years Bartha has been a teacher for the Board of Education in Pittsburgh; he has also been employed by Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. Both undergraduate and Master of Education degrees came from the University of Pittsburgh.

Completing his undergraduate degree at Lycoming College and Master of Science in Education degree at Bucknell University, King has done additional graduate work at the University of Massachusetts and is a candidate for a Doctorate of Education at Pennsylvania State University.

Formerly an instructor in education at the University of Massachusetts, King has also been an elementary teacher with the South Williamsport Area School District.

Dr. Shumaker has previously been supervisor of special classes and psychologist for the Armstrong County Schools in Kittanning, developmental and remedial reading teacher at Kittanning Junior High School seven years and teacher and director of the Armstrong County Summer Reading Clinic.

A graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Shumaker completed her Master of Education and Doctor of Education degrees at the University of Pittsburgh and has done additional graduate work at Pennsylvania State University.

Raymond E. Miller joins the Foundations of Education Department staff as an instructor. Graduating from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, he earned a Master of Education degree at the University of Pittsburgh.

Senior high school principal in the Ford City Union School District 16 years, Miller had also been a teacher in the Ford City School District 21 years.

Dr. Mearl F. Gerheim has been named to the Secondary Education Department faculty as an associate professor. Most recently district superintendent of Kiski Area Schools in Vandergrift, he held a similar position with the Palmerton Area Schools.

A graduate of Pennsylvania State University, Dr. Gerheim also received his Master of Arts degree at that school and a Doctorate of Education from the University of Pittsburgh; he has done additional graduate work at Drake University and at the University of Maryland.

Designated an assistant professor in the Special Education Department is Gene A. Felix. A graduate of St. Francis College, he received a Master of Science degree from Pennsylvania State University and has done additional graduate work at West Virginia University.

Felix has been a speech therapist for the Cambria County Special Education Office in Ebensburg nine years and speech and hearing supervisor for Elk County Society for Crippled Children in St. Marys five years.

Barbara J. Balsiger as an associate professor, John J. Dropcho as an assistant professor and George B. Johnson have been appointed to the Art and Art Education Department.

Most recently working through a teaching fellowship at the University of Pittsburgh, Miss Balsiger has also been a teacher in the Bradford Area School System five years, at Otto-Eldred Junior-Senior High School in Duke Center and at Penn Joint High School in Claridge.

After graduating from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Miss Balsiger received a Master of Arts degree from the State University of Iowa and has done additional graduate work at the University of Vienna and at the University of Pittsburgh.

A graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Dropcho was granted a Master of Education degree by Pennsylvania State University; he has done additional graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Formerly an art teacher at Crafton Junior-Senior High School eight years, Dropcho is a veteran of the U.S. Army and has also been employed by United States Steel in Johnstown and by J. Soyka Construction Company in Ebensburg.

Most recently an associate professor of art at Mansfield State College, Johnson had held a similar position at East Stroudsburg State College nine years and has also been a teacher of art at Thomas Jefferson Junior High School in Fair Lawn, New Jersey and at Newton (New Jersey) Elementary School.

After completing his undergraduate work at Indiana University, Johnson was awarded both Master of Art Education and Master of Fine Arts degrees by that school.

Six new faculty members in the Music and Music Education Department are Mrs. Ethimea Becker as an instructor, Henry C. Fuchs as an assistant professor, Gary Olmstead as an instructor, Peter J. Popiel as an instructor, James H. Wildeboor as an associate professor and Paul A. Thompson as an instructor.

A graduate of the State College of Iowa, Mrs. Becker has done graduate work at the University of Michigan and at the University of Iowa. Most recently she has been a vocal music teacher at Purchase Line High School and had been an instructor of music at Parsons College.

Fuchs has been an instructor of music at Muskingum College, West Virginia Institute of Technology and the Lamont School of Music of the University of Minnesota.

Olmstead graduated from the University of Michigan and received a Master of Fine Arts degree from Ohio University. Previously director of music at Byron (Michigan) Area Schools, he has been a graduate assistant in percussion at Ohio University.

Most recently a graduate teaching assistant at the Eastman School of Music, Popiel also served as a teacher of general music and instrumental music at Amherst (New York) Junior High School and as a teacher of instrumental music at Maryvale High School in Buffalo.

Graduating from the State University of New York at Fredonia, Popiel received a Master of Music degree from the Eastman School of Music and is now a doctoral candidate at that school.

Earning undergraduate degrees both at the University of Pittsburgh and at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Thompson received a Master's degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught 18 years in the public schools, most recently with the Kittanning Union School District.

Previously an associate professor of music at Shepherd College ten years, Wildeboor is a veteran of the U. S. Army who has also been director of music for the Leonardville (Kansas) Public Schools and for the Oawker City (Kansas) Public Schools.

Completing his undergraduate credits at Ottawa University, Wildeboor received a Master of Music Education degree from the University of Kansas and has done additional graduate work at West Virginia University.

Dr. A. Carolyn Newsom comes to Indiana as a professor and acting dean of the School of Home Economics. A graduate of Texas State College for Women, she received her Master of Science degree from Iowa State College and a Doctorate of Philosophy from Ohio State University.

Most recently a visiting professor of home economics education at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Dr. Newsom had been an associate professor of home economics education at Louisiana State University and an associate professor of home economics education and district supervisor of home economics at Indiana University five years.

Appointed as an assistant professor in the Home Economics Education Department, Dawn Ann McClowry has been an instructor of foods and nutrition at the University of New Hampshire and a home economics teacher at Springdale High School and at New Kensington High School.

A graduate of Seton Hill College, Miss McClowry received a Master of Education degree from Pennsylvania State University and has done additional graduate work at Rutgers University, Columbia University and Cornell University.

Joining the Reserve Officers Training Corps installation at Indiana are Captain Bruce K. Heim, Captain George F. Mergner and Captain F. D. Simpson as active officers in the U. S. Army.

Heim, a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, had previously been assigned to the 101st Airborne Division as rifle platoon leader, executive officer of a rifle company and battalion staff officer for air operations.

After serving in Vietnam with the 101st Division, Heim was reassigned to the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

Mergner, a graduate of Lycoming College, has previously been assigned to Fort Benning, Georgia, Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Fort Knox, Kentucky, in various command and staff positions.

Mergner served in Korea as a company commander and brigade staff officer in the Seventh Infantry Division and prior to coming to Indiana served in Vietnam as an infantry battalion advisor and division staff advisor.

Simpson, a graduate of Western Kentucky University, has previously been assigned to Fort Knox, Kentucky, in a number of staff and command positions in both the Armor and the Quartermaster divisions.

Overseas duty has included service both in Ludwigsburg, Germany, and most recently in Vietnam.

Indiana University Awarded Higher Education Act Grant

Indiana University of Pennsylvania has been granted a federal grant of $27,740 under Title VI of the Higher Education Act. This grant will be matched by an equal amount from institutional funds, which will be used to acquire additional equipment for the Instructional Resources Center at the University.

Indiana ranked seventh among the 55 institutions which were recommended for these grants. This ranking is based on the use which is to be made of the equipment and the general instructional equipment program at the institution.

Specifically, the equipment which will be purchased with the grant will include a Xerox Camera with Processor, 10 TV Color Receivers, 10 Photo Copiers, 6 Carrell Tape Recorders, an Auditorium Slide Projector, a 16 mm Film Printer, an overhead projector, a Teaching Machine, and other audio-visual instructional equipment.

August Graduation at Indiana Sees 268 Awarded Degrees

Two hundred sixty eight persons were granted degrees at Indiana's Summer Commencement held Sunday, August 21, 1966, at Fisher Auditorium.

Included in those who earned degrees were 114 students who received master of education degrees, 139 bachelor of science in education degrees, and 15 bachelor of arts degrees. Commissions as Second Lieutenants were also conferred upon eight graduates. Three were commissioned in the Regular Army, while the remaining five were commissioned in the United States Army Reserve.

Delivering the principal address at the commencement was Dr. J. Roscoe Miller, President of Northwestern University.

Dr. J. Roscoe Miller became Northwestern University's twelfth president in 1949, at the age of 44. An alumnus of the University (the second to be elevated to this post), he served as dean of the institution's Medical School for eight years prior to his appointment as president.

Dr. Miller received his A.B. degree from the University of Utah in 1925 and his M.D. (1930) and M.S. degrees (1931) from Northwestern University.

After two years research in cardiology on a Montgomery Ward fellowship, he became a member of Northwestern's Medical School faculty. In addition to his teaching duties, he carried on a private practice which earned him a reputation as one of Chicago's leading heart specialists.

In 1941, he was appointed Dean of the Medical School, becoming at age 36, one of the youngest medical school administrators in the country.

During World War II he was head of the medical branch, professional division, of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Washington, D. C. He held the rank of Commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. From 1952 to 1955, he served as a member of the Medical Task Force of the Hoover Commission.

All Alumni to Receive Bulletins

Beginning with this issue of the Alumni Bulletin, the quarterly publication will be sent to all alumni of the University. In this way, all alumni can be kept abreast of the many changes which have already taken place at their Alma Mater and will continue to take place at an even faster pace in the years to come because of its change of status.

Alumni are encouraged to send to the Editors of the Alumni Bulletin news about themselves and other alumni for inclusion in the Bulletin. The Editors ask, however, that the deadlines printed in the inside cover be adhered to so that the publication can be prepared according to schedule.

Thirty-five Alumni Members Attend First Annual Workshop

Approximately 35 members of Indiana University's General Alumni Association attended the First Annual Alumni Association Workshop on the University campus from Friday, August 5 to Sunday, August 7, 1966.

Under the co-direction of Dr. Arthur F. Nicholson, Dean of the University's School of Continuing Education and President of the General Alumni Association, and Mary L. Esch, Executive Secretary of the General Alumni Association. The 35 Alumni, who came from Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D.C., studied problems of the Association and the University and made plans for a continuing program of education for Alumni of the University.

During their stay at Indiana, the participants were quartered in Stewart Hall lounge.

Members of the Workshop also attended Summer Theater Guild's presentation of the musical comedy "Cindy" on Friday evening, and attended the Shriners' program held in Memorial Hall Saturday evening. Also on Saturday evening, Workshop members enjoyed a delicious banquet at Rustic Lodge. Entertainment for the latter affair was presented by Miss Dorothy Lingenfelter, a member of the University faculty, who sang a number of folk songs.

Among the members of the University staff who discussed problems with the Workshop participants were: Dr. Willis E. Pratt, President of the University; Samuel Furgiuele, Public Relations Director of the University and Editor of the Alumni Quarterly; Dr. S. Trevor Hadley, Dean of Students; and Dr. James Laughlin, Assistant Dean of Students, Director of Admissions, and President of the University Faculty Unit of the Alumni Association.

University Golfers Cop Fourth Place In N.A.I.A. National Tournament

Indiana University of Pennsylvania golfers finished off a highly successful season by copping fourth place in the N.A.I.A. National Golf tournament this past year.

Under head coach Bernard Ganley the Big Indian team consisting of Rich Hrip, Terry Eisenhute, Dave Prosser, Pete Greenawalt and Mike Arnold, traveled to Shawnee, Oklahoma, for this year's event. The Braves took ninth place in the same tournament last year. This year the young Indians, who will have all team members returning for another season, improved upon their former position by turning in a score of 1209 strokes for the event.

First place went to the University of Southwest Louisiana with a score of 1178 strokes, while Western Illinois University and Texas Wesleyan University tied for second place with a total of 1205 strokes. Indiana came in fourth with a 1209 and Eastern New Mexico University was fifth with a 1217 total.

Terry Eisenhute and Rick Hrip led the Big Indians by carding 301 strokes apiece, while Dave Prosser and Pete Greenawalt had scores of 306 and 307, respectively. Mike Arnold, the fifth man on the team, carded a 322 for the 72 hole total.

In closing the highly successful season the Indians had a record of 11-2 on the match season, losing only to Penn State and West Virginia. IU, along with the fourth place in the N.A.I.A. Tournament, also placed second behind Penn State in the Indiana Invitational this year.

Leventhal Appointed Program Director Of University Student Union

Mr. Aaron J. Leventhal has been appointed Program Director of the Indiana University Student Union, according to Dr. Willis E. Pratt, University president. His duties will include the administration of the program of the Student Union and the supervision of many of the Union facilities.

Mr. Leventhal, who, until his appointment last August operated a summer travel camp for teen-age boys (and will continue to do so during summers), earned a B.S. in Sociology and Business Administration from Ohio State University and is scheduled to receive his M. S. in Recreation Administration from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana.

His experience includes work as assistant director of the Community Center in Bloomington, Indiana; as a tour director for the American Field Service; and as a teaching assistant at Indiana University.

Alumna and Former Art Director Honored on 90th Birthday

Miss Mary Edna Flegal, not only a graduate of Indiana, but also Director of Art at the Institution, celebrated her 90th birthday in June. She was honored by some of her very old friends of the Philadelphia Unit at a luncheon given by Mrs. Walter High.

Miss Flegal was born in Clearfield County and graduated from Indiana in 1899. She taught English and Art in Pittsburgh Schools, was Assistant Professor of Art at Miami University in Ohio, Art Supervisor in schools in Durham, North Carolina, and Art Instructor at Teachers College, Columbia University where she received her B.S. and M.A.

She returned to Indiana in 1926 as Director of Art when Dr. John A. H. Keith was president and served under four presidents at Indiana until her retirement in 1941.

A member of the Philadelphia Unit, she has attended and reported regularly the Unit meetings. She has always responded with loyalty and interest to any recognition given her Alma Mater and left the imprints of these sentiments upon the minds of those Alumni who mingled with her.

Indiana Receives Coveted Award For Achievement In Food Service

Indiana University of Pennsylvania was recently awarded INSTITUTIONS MAGAZINE'S Award for superlative achievement in Food Service Design at a formal banquet honoring the winners at the Pick-Congress Hotel in Chicago, Illinois. Indiana was one of 82 institutions so honored.

The Institution's award program, now in its twentieth year, recognizes institutional service facilities throughout the world for distinction in design, fabrication, and function. Participants in this program include hospitals, hotels, inplant food service facilities, restaurants, motels, clubs, schools and colleges, etc.

The award for Indiana was accepted by Mr. John Scanlan, Manager of the Slater Food Service at the University. The award was presented by Audrey Devine, Senior Editor of Institutions Magazine.

Judges for the awards were: Mrs. Dede Draper, NSID, Shaw & Draper, Inc., New York; Watson B. Rulon, President National Restaurant Association, Hogate's Sea Food Restaurant, Washington, D.C.; Joseph W. Laschober, FFES Loschober & Sovich, Inc., San Marino, California; Arthur Morgan, AID, Arthur Morgan Designers, Inc., Seattle, Washington; and Alan Berger, ISFSC, The Fabricators, Dallas, Texas.

Federal Grants To Indiana Exceed $2.5 Million Last Year

In 1965, Indiana became the first state institution in Pennsylvania to receive a construction grant under the provisions of the Higher Education Facilities Act. This grant in the amount of $1,026,000 is being used to purchase initial equipment for the science complex and will provide one of the finest instructional facilities of its type in western Pennsylvania.

Two other grants supported under this same legislation during the past year were: $75,192 to assist in purchasing and renovating the Armstrong County Center facility; and $740,627 to permit the expansion of the Learning Research Center from the four-story building initially authorized to the six-story structure now in the final design stages.

Other federal grants and contracts with the University during the past year include: $26,510 under Title VI of the Higher Education Act for the purchase of instructional equipment; $5,000 for the purchase of library materials at the main campus and an additional $5,000 each for library materials at the Armstrong and Punxsutawney centers; $13,190 under the Law Enforcement Assistance Act to cover most of the expenses of initiating the new Department of Law Enforcement; $43,058 for an NDEA summer Institute in English; $55,994 for an NDEA summer Institute in Geography; and $33,098 for an NDEA summer Institute in Counseling and Guidance.

Another grant of $5,000 was awarded to the University library to assist in the preparation of a sheaf-book catalogue to be distributed to several nearby libraries.

A grant of $2,000 was awarded to Dr. Paul R. Wunz to continue a program of research participation for college teachers, and Mr. Ronald L. Marks received an Office of Education grant in the amount of $1,812 to conduct a study of chemistry teaching programs. An NSF grant of $1,300 was received for the purchase of instructional equipment for the Department of Economics.

Performance contracts were entered into for a Title III Elementary and Secondary Education Act survey in the amount of $2,100; a food service institute, $3,500; and a computer science workshop, $300.

An additional grant, under Title I of the Higher Education Act, was received by the University for support of a series of twelve seminars in labor-management relations. This program, which starts this month, will conclude in March, 1967 and has as its goal the improvement of labor-management relations in the area served by the University.

Another major federal assistance program provides loans and work-study funds to students, and during this past year a total of $373,956 was received from the federal government for these purposes.

Together, the above programs represent federal participation in excess of two and one-half million dollars—indeed, a massive addition to the Indiana University of Pennsylvania program.

Dept. of Law Enforcement Gets Justice Department Grant

The U. S. Department of Justice has made an award of $13,191 to Indiana University of Pennsylvania for the development of a degree program in Law Enforcement and Police Science. In announcing the award U. S. Attorney General Nicholas deD. Katzenbach noted that the award represents first-stage support under the Department's special program for development of degree programs in police science. The Department of Justice also recommended second-stage assistance through an award to be made in 1967.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania will use the award for the new department which was established last month. The department was approved by the Board of Trustees at its May meeting, and Mr. Harry More was appointed as department chairman.

Activities of the Alumni Units and Groups

WASHINGTON, D. C. UNIT

The fall and winter activities of the District of Columbia Unit of the Alumni Association began with a get-together and cook-out at the mountain retreat of our president, Dorothy Ramale, on Saturday, September 17. At that time we heard about and viewed pictures of her summer trip to Alaska.

Other activities to follow during the year include sports events, Homecoming on campus, a film on the "Indiana Story," a theater party and the All Pennsylvania College Alumni Association events on February 3 and 4, 1967. The President of the D. C. Alumni Association, Miss Ramale, also has the honor of the Presidency of the APCAA for the 1966-67 year.

During the past spring and summer we have been represented on campus by these members: Alumni Day, May 28, June Wilgus Reed, Jeanne Groleau Baer and Theda Miller Stauffer had their 25th year reunion and Grace O'Neal Lehman her 50th. Alumni Workshop, August 5-7, Naomi Conrad Funk, Laura Phillipi Gienger, Grace O'Neal Lehman and Dorothy Ramale attended this event.

The tour of the Winterthur mansion and Longwood Gardens in Delaware and Pennsylvania was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarvie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller (the Jarvie's daughter and son-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gienger and son, Chris and Miss Dorothy Ramale.

On Friday, September 2, the following attended the weekly traditional Marine Dress Parade at the Marine Barracks: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Palmer and sons, Donald and Chris, Miss Dorothy Ramale and her sister, Lucille Ramale and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stauffer and children, Dawn, Gayle and Dane.

All Indiana Alumni in the Washington and nearby Virginia and Maryland areas are welcome and urged to attend any and all of our activities.

PITTSBURGH UNIT

The Pittsburgh Unit of the Indiana Alumni met Tuesday, September 13, 1966 in the Pittsburgh National Bank Building at the corner of Fifth and Craig Street. The new president, Mrs. Mary Jane Tuttle, presided.

Margaret Mayo, who makes her home in St. Petersburg, Florida, was our visitor and we were happy to greet her.

Frances Murray and Ann Carlin traveled to Europe last summer. Mary Longwill, Lenore Melcher and her sister, Mrs. Harvey Roberts had an enjoyable N.R.L.A. trip to Europe.

Jeanine Du Fresne attended San Francisco State College, where she studied Braille. She hopes to teach the blind when she retires from the Pittsburgh Public Schools. I think we can be proud of Jeanine.

Jane Black and Thelma Harris had plans to visit the Hawaiian Islands but the long plane strike changed their plans — however they did go to California.

Gladys Elcessor, Ethel Morrow and Elizabeth Piper attended the Pennsylvania Retired Teachers Re-creo July 24-30 at Edinboro State College. There were over 200 in attendance. Trips to Chautauqua and Erie by bus were enjoyable. Travel slides, musical programs, talks, and bingo all made the time pass much too rapidly.

Audrey Graham, Helen Brennan and Flossie Wagner Sanford gave excellent reports of the General Alumni Association Workshop held at the University Friday, August 5 to Sunday, August 7, 1966. We hope more may attend next year.

Gladys Elcessor planned a memorial service for the three members who have been called Home by Our Master.

Helen McWilliams, Margaret Shiels, and Flossie Sanford paid tribute to our Rose Brennan McManus, Frances Murray and Gladys Elcessor spoke of Louise Kelly, and Audrey Graham and Betty Piper of Nelda Shaffer.

We were also sorry to hear that Helen MacLeod, a former member of our Unit, died recently.

Our congratulations to Esther Crawford Teats of Riverside, California, who drove across the United States to attend her 50th reunion at Indiana.

PITTSBURGH-NORTH BOROUGHS UNIT

The Pittsburgh-North Boroughs Unit experienced a very busy and profitable year, which came to a close on June 23, with the annual out-door meeting.

This year, we were the guests of Sara Graber-Niemier, in her new home in Cedarhurst Manor, Lakemont Road in Mt. Lebanon.

The home and the grounds, beautiful beyond description, were enjoyed by the forty-three members and guests. A delicious catered luncheon was served at noon, followed by the business meeting and a period of games.

Our president, Miss Catherine Taylor, presided at the business meeting, at which routine matters were taken care of.

The officers for the new year, beginning in September, 1966 will be: president, Miss Catherine Taylor; vice president, Miss Dorothy Faulk; treasurer, Miss Mildred Pauch; recording secretary, Miss Louise Crooks; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lillie List-Herman.

The hospitality committee consists of Mrs. Lillian W. Brown and Miss Mary Wyman.

A series of accidents befell four of our members during the year, which grounded them, thus cramping their style and slowing them down a bit. But, at this writing we are glad to report that all are walking around again, even though some are being aided by walking devices. Best wishes for a complete walking recovery to Mildred Pauch, Mrs. Alberta Luttinger-McKain, Mrs. Mary Bert-Kinkaid and Mrs. Lillie List-Herman.

Mary Wyman's new address is 1712 Termon Avenue, in the California Avenue District of the North Side.

One of our members most regular in attendance is Miss Estelle Luty, of Chestnut Street, Bellevue, and she announced she would be 90 years old on October 20th. Love and congratulations to you, Estelle, with many happy returns of the day.

The tentative program for the year 1966-67 was set up as follows:

Sept. 10 - Fall Picnic at Edna Duyster-Kappel's new home in North Park, Wexford, Pa.

Nov. 12 - Card Party (more information later)

Luncheon will be at Kaufmann's with Beatrice Jeffries as the chairman (the exact date to be announced later.)

May 13 - The annual University Club Spring Luncheon, with Mrs. Adele Giammartini-Bauer, chairman and co-members of her choice.

June 10 - the annual closing picnic with the Sewickley group in charge.

The two grandsons of Sara Niemier had charge of games which took up the remainder of the afternoon. Quite efficient and diplomatic were these young men, for they saw that each one present received a gift to take home in the form of a "White Elephant."

The information concerning the University Alumni Association Workshop and Conference, held August 5 to August 7, 1966, on the University campus, was received with great interest and pleasure. Those who were fortunate to be in attendance had a most enjoyable and profitable weekend, without a doubt.

Due to illnesses and physical disabilities of many of our staunch Indiana supporters, and because of previous summer plans of others, the reports of this affair will be of great interest to those of us who could attend only in spirit.

After a most pleasant day, the group wended its various ways home, after extending best wishes to all for a happy summer, and a return to health of all our sick members.

Annual Homecoming Day Scheduled for October 15

Annual Homecoming Day at Indiana University of Pennsylvania will be held Saturday, October 15, 1966.

Highlights of this annual event will include the traditional "Parade of Floats," the big Homecoming football game, alumni meetings, and a variety of social events.

Theme of this year's parade is "A World of Wonderland," Dr. Paul A. Risheberger, parade chairman, has announced. Fraternities, sororities, and other student campus organizations have been invited to enter floats carrying out this theme.

Prizes donated by the Indiana Kiwanis Club, the Indiana University Bookstore, the President's Alumni Committee, the Indiana Student Council, the Indiana Evening Gazette, McGill Motors, and Dr. Risheberger and his committee, will be awarded on the basis of originality and appropriateness to the theme at the George P. Miller Stadium prior to the football game.

The parade, which will begin at 12:15, will originate at the university campus, move through the center of the Indiana community, and enter the George P. Miller Stadium, where it will circle the track so that spectators can view the entire parade. The winning floats will then be announced and paraded in front of the grandstand.

In the afternoon football game at Miller Stadium, Indiana's Big Indians will go against Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, Michigan. Kickoff time will be 2:45 p.m.

In the evening a three-act musical comedy "Cindy" will be presented under the direction of Robert W. Ensley and Charles A. Davis.

In addition, the Indiana Country Club will be the scene of a Homecoming Dance for alumni and friends, sponsored by the Indiana Unit of the General Alumni Association. Music for this informal affair will be provided by the Tony Krozely Orchestra.

Many additional daytime activities are also planned for the day. Arthur F. Nicholson, president of the General Alumni Association, has called a meeting of the Executive Council in Cogswell Auditorium at 9:30 a.m.

Registration for Homecoming Day will begin at 9:00 a.m. and continue throughout the day in Room 101, Leonard Hall on the campus.

Beginning at 10:00 a.m. and continuing until 11:45 o'clock, a brunch will be served in the Foster Hall dining room. No reservations are necessary for the brunch.

At 11:00 a.m. the new science complex on Oakland Avenue will be dedicated in honor of Mr. Carl S. Weyandt, former member and treasurer of the Indiana Board of Trustees, and president of the Syntron Foundation.

Other events, including a cafeteria dinner from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., a dinner-dance in Foster Hall and dancing and socializing in the Student Union, will complete the day's activities.
